

Construction OS&H

A training course for design and project management teams

Follow up

The form below is a simple way of assessing how much of the material taught in the training event has been applied by each course participant (or each of a sample of participants) in practice. It should of course, be used to stimulate a broader discussion on the effectiveness of the training event, which should be summarised and recorded for future use. This should not be a postal exercise; the Tutor should visit the participants if possible, but otherwise should discuss it by phone or in the digital spirit of Construction OS&H, perhaps by using Skype ([www.skype.com)].
